Building community awareness in meaningful ways

Why is community awareness critical to your foundation's success?

Definition: Building community awareness

- Process for raising the profile of your foundation in your community.
 - Can include multiple marketing/communications strategies.
 - Ranging from simple to sophisticated.
 - Across several mediums.

Why is community awareness important?

- Helps people in your community know about your foundation.
- Clarifies messaging.
 - Helps board, staff, stakeholders, target audiences talk about you and your work.
- Helps you know yourself.
 - Critical to know who you are to effectively communicate outwardly.
- Awareness is the first step in the relevancy continuum.
 - Awareness => Understanding => Appreciation => Engagement

How to build community awareness

- Do the prework!
- Get alignment from board and staff
 - Intentionality matters
 - How will you move people along the continuum?
- What do you want people to know about you?
 - What's your CF's personality?
 - What value do you bring to your audience?
Why should they care?
 - What is your goal?

What does your community
currently know about your CF?

What don't they know?

What do you want them to know?

How to build community awareness

Determine who with & how to build awareness

- Identify your target audience.
 - Don't just "preach to the converted".
 - Focus on who isn't in the know but may be curious.
- Develop & deliver content and strategy
 - What do you want to do to raise awareness and encourage engagement?
 - Consider tone – positivity and honesty go a long way.
 - Use stories & photos.
 - Repurpose content.

How have you effectively raised awareness and encouraged engagement?

How have you used stories to showcase the value you bring to your community?

What are outcomes of community awareness

- Your community knows of you.
 - They may not understand, appreciate, or engage with you YET, but they know you.
 - First step in developing more meaningful relationships with all stakeholders (donors, grantees, partners, etc.).
- You have data to measure that awareness.
 - Starting with evidence-informed processes.
- Community foundation board and staff can more easily talk about the foundation and your work.

Building community awareness

How can you use communications mediums (social media, radio, print, newspapers, website, video, etc.) and create opportunities for two-way engagement?
